
Tenure Track, Assistant or Associate Professor Industrial Design

Position

The School of Design in the College of Imaging Arts and Sciences at the Rochester Institute of Technology invites applicants to apply for a tenure track Assistant Professor position, or an Associate Professor position dependent upon experience and qualifications, to teach in the Industrial Design program. We are seeking candidates that are well-rounded designers and educators with significant professional experience. Candidates should be qualified to teach throughout the undergraduate and graduate Industrial Design curriculums. Primary responsibilities will be teaching studio based courses and design theory.

Responsibilities include teaching three classes each term. Additional components include service to the University and an ongoing commitment to scholarship.

The position begins August 15, 2013.

We are seeking individuals who are committed to contributing to RIT's core values, honor code, and statement of diversity.

Required Qualifications

- Terminal degree in Industrial Design (MFA, MID, PhD), or a terminal degree in a related field of study (completed by June 2013).
- Minimum of three years professional experience.
- Minimum of five years full-time teaching experience at the university level for Associate Professor rank.
- Minimum of one year teaching experience at the university level beyond a teaching assistantship for Assistant Professor rank.
- Demonstrated knowledge of one or more of the following: design theory, design history, design methodology, business.
- Experience with visualization and communication design skills common in design practice
- Ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the college's continuing commitment to cultural diversity, pluralism, and individual differences.
